Missing 'Lure' of Ring

Theresa Duggan's pal in the fleecing of the wealthy Mr. Curtis to a Back Bay hotel, according to the "confession" of the former. Peggy was indicted with the other alleged members of the blackmail ring, but disappeared before a warrant could be served on her. A former State official is said to have provided her with funds. Nathan L. Tufts, ousted district attorney for Middlesex County, was a frequent secret visitor to Peggy's flat, the confession said.

Two gunmen are under arrest and two others are being sought for the murder of Patrolman Joseph Gonya, Jr., of the Hyde Park police station. One of the men was arrested in the city and had abducted and robbed a Mattapan citizen. The two men were arrested in Norwood single handed by Patrolman Charles R. Donnell of the Norwood police force. They gave their names as Henry T. Keefe, twenty-five years

Gouya was murdered when he tried to arrest a band of auto thieves who, in addition to stealing the automobile from which they shot, had held up a Somerville garage, of Somerville, and Jeremiah J. Horgan, twenty-three years old, of Cambridge.

GIRL NAMES TUFTS IN BLACKMAIL CONFESSION

Three hundred passengers on a Boston-bound passenger train saw a freight train derailed and two men killed today at Medfield Junction, on the New Haven Railroad.

It was a two engine train drawn twenty - three freight cars, most of them containing coal. The engine jumped the tracks when brakes failed to bring them to a stop on a down grade. Had they not derailed they Mrs. Ruth Kelly and her family would have been crushed into the fast moving passenger train and a great loss of life would have ensued.

The dead:

Engineer W. I. Taylor, Wickford, R. I.

Robert Cronin Martin Noyes
Injured:
Fireman G. I. Imonie, Providence.
Brakeman H. A. Beaudrie, Providence.
The injured are in the Leonard Moss Hospital at Natick. Their hurts are not serious.
Taylor was the engineer in the first engine. It took a nose dive into the roadbed, and now lies half buried. Brakeman Russell was riding in the cab with him. His fire-

A writ issued for the arrest of Kenneth Merrill, alleged intended witness in the Blackhawk case, was withdrawn today. William B. Hayden, counsel for Merrill, told Judge Quinn that his client would be in court.

At the opening today in Superior Court, where "Big Bill" Corcoran, his brother Leo, Lawyer Harry E. Levenson and others are on trial charged with extortion and blackmail, the trial was delayed by the Special Prosecutor Arthur D. H. obtained a delay from Judge Joseph T. Quinn. Marlboro. Oct. 22.—One man was killed and two may die as the result of an automobile skidding into a telephone pole today.

Dead: James O'Brien, forty-five years old, Grant street, Maynard.

Injured: Mott Buckley, Maynard; Stanley Wisniewski, Maynard.

They are in the Marlboro hospital with fractured skulls.

Others injured slightly were George Sales and Urolo Hippakos of Maynard. Sales was driving the car. He was arrested. He blames the accident to a defective steering wheel. It occurred on Route 1, Curran on the Boston road.

TRAPPED WIFE AND FRIEND; BRIGHTON MAN WINS DIVORCE

A divorce decree was granted Truman H. Judson of No. 674 Washington street, Brighton, by Chief Justice Erickson today.

Judson's wife was trapped in a Back Bay rooming house with Fredricka "Chonnie" wife of Max Markowitz in Brighton and Newburyville and "friend" of her husband, Earl "Red" and Thelma.

Judson said the court today that he knew his wife had been unfaithful for more than eight years, but he refrained from trying to trap her because of the chance of arrest.

DEVIL SHORE IN GALE.

Parts of coral and rock bars there break the miles. In smooth seas the danger is avoidable, but with a rough sea running, the reefs are almost covered and barred with every wave.

It is thought the San Gil sprang a bad pull on the reef at 8:30 a. m. A radio message was received at East Hampton, New York, which read:

"Water heavy. Pounding to pieces. Passengers taking to boats. Hurry!"

The message then gave the ship's position as latitude 15:32 north, longitude 17:25 west.

ADVISING TO RESCUE

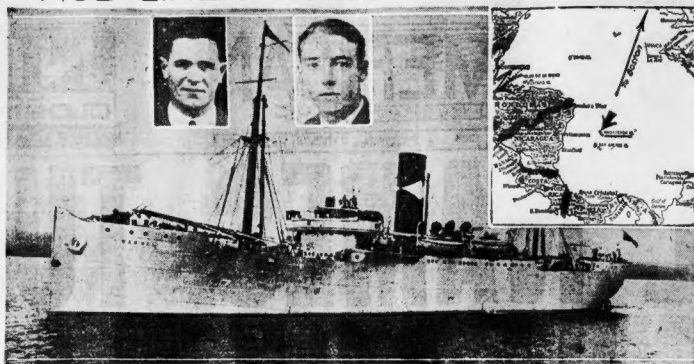

The station immediately sent out an "URGENT" signalling all other radio stations pending.

The message from the doomed vessel was frantic. "Help! Quick! This is radio station and was sent to help call was immediately by broadcast to ships at sea. The SS. Penn and SS. Pastore are on scene.

STEAMSHIP SAN GIL AND SCENE OF CARIBBEAN WRECK

The liner was one of the United Fruit Company's fleet and left Boston October 14 on her regular Southern trip. She went ashore today on a coral reef off Providence Island in the Caribbean Sea. Fifty persons on board, including passengers and crew, were forced to take to lifeboats in a heavy, dangerous sea. Insets are two of the Boston Passengers. They are, left to right, H. H. She cast off several hours later than the Pastore, but made heavy weather of it, and was handicapped greatly in speed when she sprang the leak.

The Pastore, accordingly, was far ahead of her in the trip toward Colon.

Upon receipt of the Pastore's wireless here, Captain A. F. Davison, marine superintendent of the United Fruit Company, ordering plans to leave at once for Havana.

FRANCE INSISTS ON PAYMENT BY GERMANY TO PAY U. S. DEBT

Paris, Oct. 22.—"If we pay, we shall be united in fighting for the same cause, they should stand the losses together."

Calculation of the commission's figures, placing the French debt at approximately four billion dollars, shows that at 4 per cent, this would require the annual payment of $160,000,000 in interest alone, or roughly, $160,000,000 francs, at the present rate of exchange, which could only be added to the present budget deficit or borrowed by inflation.

CONFERENCE IN CORCORAN CASE

formation as to its future was withheld.

Significant, however, was the fact that a special session of the Grand Jury had been called. The jurors were in adjoining room while the conference took place.

It became known that a letter figured in the conference. Also the name of James J. Donovan, leather man mugged by the ring of $15,000.

When court convened Judge Quinn addressed the jury. "I want you to concentrate on every word of testimony given here," he said. "I want you to note carefully the appearance of every witness who testifies. I want you to memorize everything. Upon your memory will depend your verdict."

ANOTHER STATEMENT.

Mr. Hill then began the reading of the second and last installment of Teresa Duggan's confession, twenty-one typewritten pages.

Mrs. Duggan made a supplemental statement at the office of the District Attorney following her confession, in which she "look back" reference that Joseph C. Peilley got $1,000 out of the James J. Donovan shake-down.

This was received at the trial today by Prosecutor Hill. He read her statement to the jury. She also said she had been mistaken in saying that Donovan, the leather man, appeared in court following his being trapped with her and just previous to his being relieved of $15,000 by her.

Mrs. Duggan made corrections on December 23, 1921. Her confession was made on November 1, the same year.

FOUGHT BY DEFENSE.

Following this week of Theresa's second appearance on Boston Hill, Judge Quinn excluded the jury from the courtroom and heard arguments on whether or not her confession could be used against Corcoran and the other defendants.

Special Prosecutor Hill argued for the State, half a dozen lawyers, including Joseph Walsh for Corcoran, for the defense.

The law holds a statement by one conspirator against others if made at a time when the conspiracy is in its prime.

Defense attorneys argued that Mrs. Duggan's confession was made about two years after the act named was committed. The prosecution charged that the conspiracy continued down to the date of the indictment, which was December 11, 1921.

It was six days after the return of the indictment that she retraced, having knowledge of Peilley having taken money from the ring.

AFFIDAVITS AND SACCO FIGHT FOR NEW TRIAL

In efforts of Sacco and Vanzetti to win a new trial.

Pelzer's affidavit declared he has told District Attorney Williams that he could not identify Sacco, although during the trial he did identify him.

"It was nervous," the document declared. "I don't know how I identified Sacco, unless I was forced to do so."

"I didn't tell the truth about Sacco, but I did see a man fire the bullet which killed Farmer and Baredelli."

Captain William H. Proctor of the State Police submitted an affidavit strongly supporting Sacco's defense.

In the affidavit he stated that, in his opinion, the bullet believed to have caused Paymaster Frederick Patterson's death could not have been fired from Sacco's revolver.

The affidavit further stated that although the bullet taken from the body of the slain sailor, Alessandro Berardelli, would have fitted the revolver of one of the convicted men, there was no proof in the opinion of Capt. Proctor that the bullet was fired from either defendant's pistol.

Two other affidavits were presented later by Special Assistant Attorney General Fred Kalmanson. One of them, a letter from Pelzer, in which Pelzer stated that a man named Davis had lent him a .38 Smith & Wesson revolver, which he used to shoot Sacco, was at the office, the affidavit said, as were two other affidavits and a stenographer.

Pelzer declared he was paid with questions in the office, and if he rendered it was because he was induced to sign papers, which he never had read. He was signed by Chief Joseph Galloway of the Bureau of Investigation, talking with a man named Roy Gould.

"Nothing Butt," Muses Cop Who Mingled with Goat

It's quite natural for a goat to butt.

But—and that isn't a pun—Policeman Frank A. Silva, walking his beat at Cedar street, between Broadway and Morrissey streets, Somerville, wasn't accustomed to being butted.

"But" Billy Goat drove in, horns akimbo. But Billy butted him several times, and he went into the middle of the roadway, which is no place for a mere pedestrian, and was for a person who is loaded on his ear by a goat. It got his goat and called up Sergeant Thomas P. Walsh.

"There's a wild goat around here and his name isn't Lolly, Sacco."

ARRESTS IN ROXBURY DROP, BUT DRUNKENNESS GAINS

The annual report of Roxbury Court, issued today, shows a decrease of 1,005 cases over the preceding year. The total was 12,615 as against 14,622 for the year previous.

Causes of drunkenness gained, with a total of 5,551 as against 5,742. Litter violations showed a decrease, 179 as against 229 in 1922. There were 432 assault and battery cases as against 486 for the preceding year, while violations of the motor vehicle law showed a drop, being 2,472 as against 2,521.

EDNA L. MURPHY.

DANCE 'CRAZY'
WHEN HE JILTED
HER, GIRL SAYS

Providence, R. I., Oct. 22.—Miss Edna L. Murphy of No. 24 Downing street, Cranston, attributes her alleged pining for John Joseph Kelley, Olneyville merchant, against whom she has filed a breach of promise suit for $25,000, to a "crazy moment."

"All men have their crazy moments," Miss Murphy, an employee of the State Department of Engineering, said, "and I suppose John Kelley must have had one of his when he declared one week before the day that had been fixed for our wedding that he would not marry me."

DENIAL BY KELLEY.

Kelley, on the other hand, denies that he ever asked Miss Murphy to marry him, although the bans were read in St. Stephens church and Miss Murphy had prepared her wedding trousseau.

Kelley charges the girl ordered the bans read herself.

"An son as I heard about the reading of bans," he said, "I told Fr. Sullivan that I had no intention of marrying the girl. Why, I didn't even buy an engagement ring. It's mighty funny a girl would buy her trousseau before she had a ring on her finger."

APPEARED DEVOTED.

Miss William Murphy, mother of the girl, recounted the events which led up to the alleged jilting of her daughter.

"John Kelley and my daughter went to school together. About a year ago he began calling on Edna, and last March they were engaged. He appeared devoted to her until just a week before the date set for the wedding, then he suddenly told her he would never marry her."

STOKES ADMITS HIS WITNESSES LIED

Indict Means, War Plotter, in Rum Fraud

HUSBAND ON STAND FOR WIFE

Aged Millionaire Called After His Own Lawyer Had Rested Case

New York, Oct. 22 (L.N.S.)—W. E. D. Stokes was called as a witness for his wife today when she began her defense against his suit for divorce.

The aged millionaire, seeking to divorce the young and beautiful Helen Elwood Stokes, and obtain the custody of their two children, proved a hostile witness. Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Mrs. Stokes, tried to question Stokes about the birth of his two children, but Justice Mahoney would not permit him to answer.

To almost every question Untermyer put to the witness, Max D. Steyer, his attorney shouted objections.

Stokes admitted his wife was not in New York during the Summer and Fall of 1914, when some witnesses had testified they saw her at Wallace's apartment.

"Then why did you have negro witnesses to swear they saw her in Wallace's flat at that time?" Untermyer shouted.

Justice Mahoney would not permit Stokes to answer.

WIFE'S FIRST WITNESS.

Joseph H. Dawson, a bookkeeper and notary public, was the first witness for Mrs. Stokes. He admitted he had taken more than 100 affidavits for Mr. Stokes. He said signatures, dates and other facts on affidavits which were repudiated by several witnesses were accurate.

A deposition by Dr. L. M. Benson of Los Angeles was read by counsel for Mrs. Stokes. Benson had been mentioned by Horace G. Knowlton, former United States Minister to Mexico, Honduras and Nicaragua, and a witness for Mr. Stokes, who said he had seen him in the Wallace apartment.

Dr. Benson, in his deposition, said he was a guest in the Wallace apartment for several months in the Fall of 1914. He fixed the date by a letter written him by the late Theodor Roosevelt introducing him to work some seasons in South America. He declared he had never seen Mrs. Stokes in the Wallace apartment.

STOKES TAKES STAND.

Mr. Stokes then was called as a witness by Mr. Untermyer who asked him to tell the court the date of the birth of his two children. Mr. Steyer objected and the court sustained the objection whereupon Mr. Untermyer exclaimed loudly:

"I can't try this case if I am to be interfered with like this!"

"You don't have to try this case," retorted Justice Mahoney.

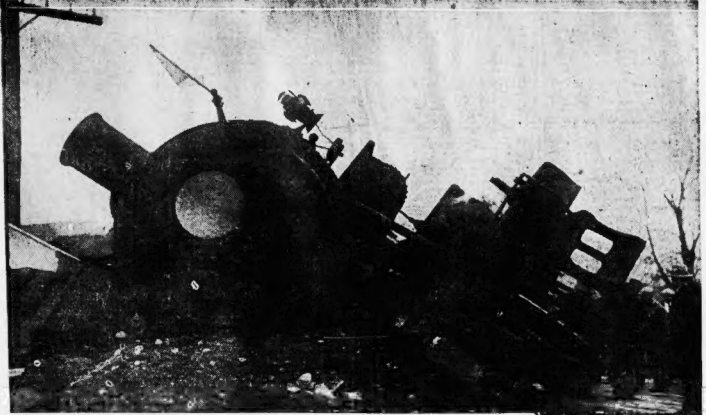

"I want an opportunity to try this case fairly," the defense counsel continued.

"You will get just that," said the judge.

Max D. Steyer, counsel for Stokes, today rested his case, after having called twenty-one witnesses, twelve of whom were negroes.

It was stated the plaintiff had intended offering seventy witnesses. During the trial Stokes' counsel attempted to make known to the court, dependent, Edgar T. Wallace, while the original petition, made in the first trial, charged forty-six acts of infidelity, alleged fifty-seven co-morbidities and named twelve.

Wallace, it was said, probably will take the witness stand for Mrs. Stokes today. It was declared he might be called at any moment he has not attended spiritualistic seances at the Johnson home.

RICH MRS. WEBB 'VICTIM OF CRIME'

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Westchester County authorities now possess evidence that a crime was committed in connection with the death of Mrs. Charles Webb, whose husband was killed in a switch engine collision last month.

The problem now is not whether a charge may be lodged against the man "the official said," but rather which of several charges will be held water in court. Mrs. Webb came to her death in some subtle manner.

Charles Webb, the husband, was completely exonerated today by the Grand Jury which investigated the death of his wife. The jurors said they considered it a "public duty" to clear Mr. Webb's name of connection with the case.

An early arrest in the case of the "murderer" was promised.

EX-OFFICIAL IN TROUBLE AGAIN

Man Who Was Acquitted of Wealthy Woman's Murder Accused in Scandal

New York, Oct. 22.—Gaston B. Means, a former special agent of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, and Elmer W. Jarnecke, described as his secretary, have been indicted.

The indictments charge a series of conspiracies to violate the national prohibition act, the liquor tax law, and the internal revenue laws by illegally removing liquor from bonded warehouses and of using the same to defraud the government at Chicago in a whiskey selling deal.

The conspirators were charged with having agreed to furnish bootleggers with choice brands of white key from distilleries and bonded warehouses. Mentioned in connection with this operation were "McIntire, a Tammany attorney," L. L. Wilson, a druggist formerly of Pittsburgh, "Dr. Lohengrin," and another "fitter."

One of the schemes of the conspirators, it was said, involved 500 cases of whiskey and another 12,000 cases and 12,500 bottles of Kentucky and Pennsylvania liquors. From November 1, 1921, to March, 1923, Means, the indictments charged, conspired to violate the prohibition act and other Federal laws more than 100 times.

Means has been prominent since America's entrance into the war, when he was reported as an employee of the German government through the prohibition act and other Federal laws more than 100 times.

In September, 1917, he was with Mrs. Maude C. King, a wealthy Chicago woman, when she met death near Concord, N. C. He has been charged with blame in that tragedy.

In 1920, during his attempt to have produced the second will of James C. King, wealthy lumberman of Chicago, Means admitted his German government connections before the court.

He created a sensation by declaring that an old tomb in Trinity churchyard, in lower New York, was used for the transfer of mass of money between himself and Dr. Ed.

Wife Who Divorced Masters

MISS L. L. MASTERS.

COURTS WOMAN POET BY VERSE

Edgar Lee Masters, the Spoon River autobiographer, may wed Miss Dorothy Dow, prominent woman poet, and he may not. But friends of the couple believe they may, and the two poets are only halfhearted in their denial.

Masters spent a few days idling at the Luxembourg. When he returned he published a startling series of sonnets asserting the difficulties of matrimony. He had recently been divorced, his wife being given the custody of the couple's two daughters.

But there is no getting about that. Miss Dow is preparing a book, "Black Rubens." Masters is writing the preface.

Masters writes a verse: "Love is a voice of music, hate is dumb." Love is unfolding, hate is turning in.

Hate is withdrawal till the flesh becomes. A numbness to which nothing is akin.

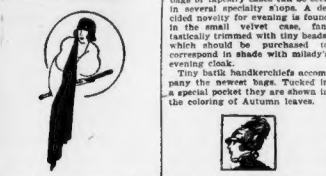

And Miss Dow answers in verse: "The night grows long and the days cold—I drove of you and love. The dead left falling from the tree. Is not more sad than memory: New is the river and so bold As were your lips to me."

Autumn Modes Sports Wear For Fall

THE mode for early Autumn is trim and tailored. But the severe straight line suit or coat dress has been modified with just the feminine touch that mildy requires. The most exclusive shops are now showing the prevailing shades of rust, brown, tan and beige, with several very new models developed in the startling bottle green which has found such favor.

Sports wear is increasingly popular with the opening of the hunting season, when society divides its time between riding with the hounds, golfing or tennis. Suits for the country club, motorcar or for the street are the new sport auto being specially featured in several lower Boylston street shops, where lines and mode have been associated for a generation with smart exclusiveness.

THERE is nothing that even hints of the masculine in the new walking sticks designed for mildy. The cane is now considered a requisite to accompany the smartest tailored costume. Sticks which can be folded to correspond with any costume are being shown in the Argosian branch of a famous London specialty shop.

One silver topped novelty comes beneath a nomenclature a tiny receptacle for powder and rouge. Another tiny amber case ends in the head of a dog and fits snugly under the arm. FAT WOMAN'S BACK A CRIME, SAYS MARY Hooper-Hooper Master of Ceremonies for Festival, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN
SO the famous S. Hooper-Hooper is to act as master of ceremonies at the Shakespeare festival which society is staging next month at the Copley-Plaza.

Mr. Hooper has established no small fame for himself as a cotton leader and he plays an important part in the Assembly-club teatime affairs to which only a very carefully culled slice of Boston society is admitted.

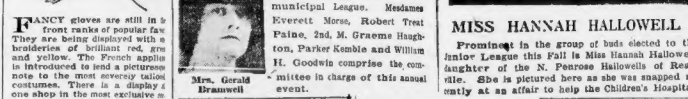

A group of prominent matrons are sponsoring the affair, which will be presented on the evening of November 16th at the Copley-Plaza for the benefit of the Repertory Theatre and the Francis Jewett Repertory Club. The program includes dances and musical numbers of Shakespearean flavor, with a number of the season's most attractive plays taking part in some of the repertory company, while some of the college cavaliers from the university across the Charles live to sing in the choruses.

Of these working for the interests of the affair are Madeline Walter C. Baylies, Hugh Baudet, Horace Blinn, S. Parker Bremer, George H. Croker, Jr., J. Lovell Little and Alden A. Thordike.

THE group of debutantes elected to membership in the Junior League this season have for their leader Miss Hannah Hollowell, second vice Mrs. and Mr. P. F. Hallowell, and Mrs. Hallowell of Rosville. Vice-chairman of this group is Miss Mary (Polly) Webster, daughter of the Edwin S. Websters.

Miss Hollowell, who is seen above as she was snapped recently helping at an affair in aid of the Children's Hospital, will be one of the most widely-remembered of the season. Her mother, who was formerly Miss Margaret Bewick, is a tall brunette and one of the smartest sets in youth-flooding matrons. Mrs. Hollowell, who has been a leading spirit of the Junior League since, spent much of the past season in England with her daughter, Mrs. John Crocker (Mary Crocker), a belle of last fall, who now makes her home at Oxford with her husband.

MRS. GERALD BRANWELL is of the prominent coterie working for the success of the bazaar which will be held at the Copley-Plaza on November 16th for the benefit of the Municipal League. Madeline Everett Moss, Robert Treat Paine, 2nd, M. Graeme Hughes, Parker Kemble and William H. Goodwin comprise the committee in charge of this annual event.

Prominent in the group of girls elected to the Junior League this fall is Miss Hannah Hollowell of Rosville. She is pictured here as she was snapped recently at an affair to help the Children's Hospital.

As the curtain rises the street lights shed a flickering bluish light on the few automobiles and fewer pedestrians who pass. A "brand new" silver roadster rattles its wheels into flames, and grinds to a stop.

BUY CAR, FIRE AND ALL.

Schenck—Gosh! She's a fire! I'll bet a dollar I got a walk home.

Perkins—No! I ain't got a dollar. (Enter Perkins)

Perkins—Hey, kid, your automobile's a fire! I'll send in an alarm the way a nearby fire box. (Exit Perkins)

Perkins—Enter Cambridge patrolman.

Patrolman—Say, youngster, I'll give you $10 for her as she stands.

Schenck—Dad! Gimme the money. (Perkins—Ain't got it. But I'll give you $10 on deposit. Here it is, thousands of exchange of money, name and address. Enter Mar-ried man and his wife.)

M. M.—Say, boy, I'll give you $25 for that silver and take the chance on having something left when she stops burning.

Schenck—Gosh! (The sound of jostling down-bursting when he realizes he has just lost 15 by the busy sale of the silver) Sorry, mister, just add it to the cop for $10.

WIRE COP MAKES $15.

M. M.—To the patrolman—Well, my offer still stands good—are there any takers?

Patrolman—You better listen to me, son. Let's see the $25. (M. M. gives patrolman $25. Patrolman gives Schenck $15 due him on transaction. Fire department arrives—slightly damaged.)

Schenck—Gosh, I'm out $15 on the sale of the car, and the $10 I have to be enough to pay for the cop. Oh, well, I've got carfare home, anyhow.

The Allure of Silver

Table silver is the household treasure most in use. Every day, year after year, it is used in daily family life. It greets the guest at breakfast, luncheon, tea, or dinner.

Table silver may be as beautiful as it is useful. The smallest piece is designed with the same skill and fashioned as carefully as the biggest.

It is possible to choose a pattern suitable for any type of dining-room from among those displayed on our second floor. There is a design to satisfy every taste.

You may buy a complete service of table silver at one time or a single piece. Many people enjoy starting a pattern of silver for the newly engaged girl. If she will choose the one which she prefers, we will make a careful note of her choice, also of the number of pieces which are given to her. Then her friends and relations can complete her set as they wish.

We have just issued a booklet, "The Allure of Silver," which illustrates fifteen of the patterns that we carry and tells the historical background behind many of them. We shall be glad to send it to you on request.

WOMEN URGE WORLD COURT TO COOLIDGE

Washington, Oct. 22.—Participation by the United States in the permanent court of international justice was recommended in a report for presentation to President Coolidge today by a committee of the National League of Women Voters.

The commission, headed by Mrs. Wood Park, president of the league, was appointed last summer to study post-war conditions and to report on the prospects of improved international understanding.

Urging that the United States join the World Court on the terms proposed to the Senate by President Harding, the commission asserted the court was the "best existing application of the principle of law as a substitute for force in the settlement of international disputes."

The definite identification of a substitute for war, is most apparent in England, the committee said, adding:

In other countries there is a great longing among women for an assurance of peace, but the disturbed countries women are wringing their hands when peace is far off.

LONDON SEES GENERAL BREAKING UP OF GERMAN REPUBLIC

BAVARIA READY TO WAGE WAR

Fatherland May Be Split as in Days Before the Rule of Prince Bismarck

London, Oct. 22 (I.N.S.).—The break-up of the German nation, under pressure from within and troubles and sufferings from without, is under way today, according to all indications from Berlin.

One or two republics may be created in the Rhineland as a result of the Rhineland reparation movement going at Brussels.

Bavaria is at loggerheads with Berlin, Saxony, Baden, Hesse, Thuringia and Württemberg and is questioning war.

It is possible that Europe may spin see Germany split up into independent States, such as existed before Prince Bismarck, the "Iron Chancellor," welded them into one confederation.

Foreign office officials hold Great Britain has not yet made any decision regarding the British attitude toward the new Rhineland republic.

AWAIT DEVELOPMENTS.
Britain will wait developments for the time being, guided by the developments.

It is understood that the allied military authorities on the Rhine have warned the separatists against any measures which will jeopardize allied reparations interests.

It is apparently the program of the separatists to establish an independent state containing most of Germany's coal and iron industries, entering into agreements with Berlin and the allied powers.

The Rhineland leaders declare that the state should be autonomous and promises it shall bear its share of its debts.

INCLUDES RICHEST CITIES.
If the Rhineland republic is successfully established on the ambitious plans of its sponsors, it will take in the industrial heart of the old Germany.

Its economic resources would be but little below those formerly enjoyed by the whole of Germany. The coal of the Ruhr and the iron of Lorraine would be united.

The ports of Hamburg and Bremen, the Rhine port of Strasbourg, efficient canals through France to the Mediterranean and Atlantic and rail connections through Holland would give almost unparalleled distribution system. The country would

WHAT NEW RHINELAND REPUBLIC TAKES IN

BORDERS SET BY SEPARATISTS

Map shows borders of the Rhineland republic as its advocates hope to see it established. Disputes predict the separatists will establish themselves to the north along the Dutch border and to the south below Cologne. The boundaries shown in the map are those of the Rhineland republic proclaimed by Dr. Hans A. Dörren in 1919.

Include scores of Germany's richest and most populous cities, the most important of which are shown on the map.

Revolt Leader Sets Up Headquarters

Düsseldorf, Oct. 22 (I.N.S.).—The Rhineland separatists, having now peacefully proclaimed a republic in Aix-la-Chapelle, are planning to make their regime effective through out virtually the entire territory occupied by France and Belgium before night.

Joseph Mailloux, the separatist leader, has set up general headquarters at Dürren from which place he will direct the occupation of public buildings by his followers.

It is understood French and Belgian troops are placing a telephone system at Mailloux's disposal to keep in close touch with movements throughout the Rhineland.

The separatists are working feverishly to establish their republic before counter plans can be set up. The public telephone system at Aix-la-Chapelle is being used to spread the news of the coup reaching Berlin.

For there has been no active interference by the French or Belgian troops, but they are standing ready should their interests be menaced.

Belgian officials in Aix-la-Chapelle look the position of interested observers when the Separatists head by Leo Deckers and Dr. Guthardt took possession of the public buildings.

According to the latest advance, active groups of Separatists at Mayence, Treves, Bonn and Wiesbaden will proclaim, if they have not already done so, a republic in those cities.

Leo Deckers, 55-year-old manufacturer, and one of the leaders of the Separatist coup at Aix-la-Chapelle, declared the Separatists would recognize the Treaty of Versailles and assume their share of reparations. He said that Coblenz could be the capital of the new republic.

The Rhineland forces, Dr. Guthardt asserted, are unarmed but know where to find weapons if necessary.

Unless you make it this way—

EVERY housekeeper should know that there is only one right way to make tea.

This one right way is printed here. If this is your recipe you need read no further, for you know how delicious real tea is.

But if you do not make it this way you are not really drinking tea. Your recipe may be only slightly different. Perhaps you do not warm the teapot—perhaps you do not brew it long enough—you may not be careful that the water is bubbling when you pour it on the leaves.

Each one of these small matters is important. They form the difference between a weak, unsatisfactory concoction and real tea, the world's most refreshing and delightful drink.

Try this recipe now—while you have it handy. Never again will you make tea in any other way.

Let Tetley Help
All tea is not alike. Crops from many different gardens must be blended to produce the tea you buy. Your enjoyment of tea depends upon what brand you buy—upon the packer's ability to secure the finest crops, upon the skill and accuracy with which these teas are blended. Tetley's ability to do these things is unequalled. Tetley's Orange Pekoe Tea is the choice of discriminating tea drinkers the world over.

negotiating with the German police for the possible establishment of a Rhineland government.

The governments of the Reich and of Prussia are reported to have invited the leaders of the various Rhineland separatist parties to meet their representatives in the government building at Cologne to discuss the immediate establishment of a Rhineland state within Germany.

Berlin, it is said here, believes that such a state must be proclaimed immediately in order to stop the spread of a separatist movement.

Oldest Hello Girl in U.S. Has Many Relatives in Hub Exchanges

To the Oldest Hello Girl in the old U. S. A.
Dear Miss Nuts—Just a note to tell you that the American people have changed in the telephone office since the old days and you write to us to say that they aren't changed a bit.

You said you didn't see a switchboard since 1902.

Well, there's a lot of girls getting paid as operators at the Main Exchange here in Boston that say like they didn't see one since 1905. You said the old time custom was for an operator to wait until two parties had finished talking. Well, of course that's been changed.

BULLET IN BODY, LOCKED IN CELL ALL NIGHT

North Attleboro, Oct. 22.—Police here kept a man locked up overnight with a bullet in his body. They didn't know it.

The man, Thomas E. Black, 29 years old, of 28 Commonwealth avenue, Attleboro Falls, may die as a result. He is in the County Memorial Hospital in Attleboro. Doctors say his condition is critical.

The bullet passed through his hip and lodged in a cavity of his vital organs. When taken out of a cell to be discharged on a drunkenness charge he had internal hemorrhages developed.

Black, with four men named as Hugh and John Hill and Joseph D. and Arthur Lewis of Attleboro, were taken through his hip and lodged in a cavity of his vital organs.

$500,000 TAPESTRIES STOLEN FROM VERSAILLES PALACE

Paris, Oct. 22.—A sensation occurred in governmental and official circles today when it was learned that two great Gobelin tapestries, valued at $500,000, had been stolen from the walls of the Versailles Palace.

The tapestries, each 9 by 16 feet and each weighing seventy-four pounds, were in 18th and 19th century style. They were part of Louis XIV's collection.

It must have been interesting that day you went to work Miss Nut and the great Alexander Bell, who presented this outrage on the poor people, was present in person. You come in looking for a job Miss Nut—can you see you need a new hat?

2 WILL DIE IN DEATH CHAIR; REFUSE TO 'SQUEAL' ON 'PAL'

Ondine, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Thursday, Harry Campbell and Anthony Marino will meet death in the electric chair today when it was learned that they refused to 'squeal' on 'Pal'.

The two men were convicted of kidnapping and murder of the late King of the underworld, Alvin Karpis.

They were given the death sentence by the Federal court in New York.

ARRESTED CHARGED WITH MURDER OF PATROLMAN GONYA

MADE TIPTOP AS SLAYER

Wounded today in West Roxbury before Judge Purdy. They waived examination, and entered no plea. Neither was represented by counsel. They were held without bail for the Grand Jury.

Joseph "Red" McCann of Cambridge, accused of the shooting by Joseph Gonyea, 314 1/2 High Street, Mansfield, mourns the death of her first-born but consoles herself with this thought:

"I am proud of my boy because he died a hero. I would rather have him dead than feel that he is in his duty and a ward."

The dead patrolman's mother is not bitter against the slayers. Instead, she calls them misguided and sympathetic with their mothers.

"Joe was always ready for duty," continued his mother. "He was of the first Mansfield boys to enlist for the war. He enlisted in the navy in 1917."

PRISONERS' CONFESSIONS

According to the police the prisoners confessed that, carrying revolvers, they had entered the garage of Peter Adams, No. 14 Webster Avenue, Dorchester, and killed Charles Nelson, an employee of St. Nelson identified Kerts and Horan as two of the three men who committed the robbery.

David H. Davidson, No. 8 Boston street, Mattapan, identified the men as the two who with a third held him up as he was driving his own machine on Norfolk street, Mattapan, compelled him to drive to the Fenway and there robbed him of $75, a diamond watch and a gold watch and chain.

Lieutenant Denney of the Somerville police station said the murder car was stolen from his district. He said he had a lead on the two suspects at the Hyde Park police station. It was not until they were taken to police headquarters, positively identified and confronted with their records by Inspectors Kallins and Flaherty that they "came through."

Both said they were in the stolen car.

Horgan is wanted in Cambridge for robbery. He has previously served prison sentences.

Gonyea was shot through the body three times. As he lay motionless in the mud at the roadside he emitted his revolver in an instinctual attempt to stop his assailants. Half an hour later he was being taken to the office of Dr. George E. Whitman, No. 1166 River street, Roxbury.

Gonyea was on duty near Oyster House, Hyde Park, when he saw the automobile bearing registration plate No. 34-103, with three occupants, enter the square. The car had been reported stolen. He called to the men to halt.

Instead, the driver speeded up and shot out through the square nearly running down the patrolman. Gonyea considered a car chase and by George Taylor, No. 125 Dana Avenue, Hyde Park, and gave chase.

Near Roxbury, the patrolman's car began to overtake the fleeing car. Then the first car stopped and Gonyea, with his revolver in his hand, stepped out in front, directly in the glare of the headlights of the stolen car.

FIRE AT ASSAILANTS

As he did so three shots rang out from the stolen car. Gonyea fell in his tracks. Before he layed out unconscious he fired four times at his assailants, none fleeing. The murder car was soon out of sight.

Patrolman Denney is being highly commended for his cool capture of the two men. The Norwood police were notified at 2:30 a. m. and after three men in a touring car who shot down Patrolman Gonyea were hours before, and night officers were securing all leads leading into town.

At 6 a. m. Patrolman Denney took an automobile and went down the boulevard to continue his search. At a point known as Upland road he came upon two men with discolored clothing walking toward Dedham. They answered the description of two of the three men in the murder gang. Without stopping questions he stopped the auto.

On arriving at the station Patrolman Denney questioned his prisoners, and started searching them. As he approached Horan the latter attempted to pull a pistol on him from his hip pocket. Denney, an experienced officer of ability, seized his hand, obtained the revolver and mobile and covered them with his revolver. He ordered them into the front seat of his car and while he covered them with his revolver with one hand, with the other he drove the three miles to the Norwood police station.

READY TO VOTE ON WILTON'S IMPEACHMENT

Oklahoma City, Oct. 22 (A.P.)—The investigating committee of the lower House of the Oklahoma Legislature today reported twelve articles of impeachment against Governor Charles C. Walton.

The articles allege corruption in office, incompetency and offenses involving moral turpitude, the committee announced, with additional indictments to be returned within two days in a supplemental bill. It is believed that with the House meeting today, balloting on the accusations will begin by tonight.

Members of the committee say that if any one of the charges is sustained, Mr. E. Trapp, Lieutenant Governor, will become acting Governor by midnight tomorrow night.

The Senate will be prepared to take up the impeachment, should any charge be sustained, within two days, Senate leaders say, with the final verdict to be reached within ten days.

Governor Walton will face the questions through to the end, he declared.

"There is nothing to the report," he said, when informed of rumors that he intended to resign today. Such rumors are merely to wound his friends and supporters and should be dismissed as unwarranted.

AMERICANS DOUBLE LONDON PURCHASES

London, Oct. 22.—West End merchants and tailors estimate American tourists this year as they have in any previous year. They assert Americans have even shopped in London in preference to Paris.

A fourth of Americans going some carried excess baggage over the 100 pounds allowed and two-thirds of them took more than the allowed hundred dollars worth of wearing apparel. The average value of $1,150 was ahead on goods purchased abroad by Americans.

NAME RECEIVER FOR SONORA PHOTOGRAPH

New York, Oct. 22.—Federal Judge Garvin in Brooklyn today appointed former Congressman John B. Johnson as receiver for the Sonora Photograph Company, Inc., of Oyster Bay, in application of Mrs. Susan V. Kitchman of Philadelphia and Mrs. Gertrude H. of Hot Springs, N. C., stockholders. The receiver was asked "in order to conserve the assets of the corporation and to reorganize its finances." It was stated the concern is solvent.

FORBES IN TILT AT VETERANS' BUREAU PROBE

Washington, Oct. 22.—The Senate committee appointed at the last session of Congress to investigate the Veterans' Bureau began open hearing today after having devoted more than six months to the collection of documentary evidence. Brigadier-General Frank T. Hines, director of the bureau, was the first witness called.

Examination of witnesses was conducted by Major-General O'Ryan of New York, general counsel for the committee, and immediately after he had begun his opening statement he was interrupted by Charles L. Forbes, who was superceded by General Hines as director of the bureau. Mr. Forbes said he desired to enter formal objection to some of the statements.

Senator Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee, told Mr. Forbes he would be given opportunity to contradict any statement that might go into the record, but for the sake of orderly procedure, his comment should be furnished in writing so it could take its proper place in the record.

"I have come 3,500 miles and out of a sick bed to be of such service to you as I can," said Mr. Forbes, "and at the same time to protect my own interests and integrity which is being attacked in these proceedings."

Chairman Reed interrupted to announce that this "is not a trial of Colonel Forbes or any other individual."

"If any person is reflected upon in the course of these hearings," he said, "it is the privilege of every man to have full opportunity to explain or to contradict any evidence."

Senator David I. Walsh is a member of the investigating committee.

Lawrence Pastor Against Marriage 'Riots' in Church

Lawrence, Oct. 22.—An order to the effect that no more bold demonstrations or work-days in the St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church will be permitted was issued by church authorities.

The hurling of rice and confetti at newly married couples about the premises of the church is taboo, according to the new rule.

The purpose of the new rule, Rev. James T. O'Reilly, pastor of the church, explained, is to "preserve the sacredness of the matrimonial ceremony."

The church authorities are not averse to the experience of four West End boys. The four were rescued by the Customs launch "Deer" two miles off Deer Island Light and turned over to the police at Long Wharf.

The boys are Joseph Gaffney, seventeen, of No. 9 South March street, Dominick Ricciardi, sixteen, No. 27 Lowell street, John Pritz, sixteen, No. 48 Lowell street, and Joseph Helli, sixteen, No. 8 Cottier street.

The quartet started out in the "B 11," an eight-foot launch owned by Ricciardi. They were seen drifting toward the outer bay before a high wind. Their boat, being towed by the "Deer," was lost on Nix's Mate.

PALESTINE FUND OPENS IN BOSTON

It is a privilege for Boston Jews to assist in the fund to pay for the restoration of the home of Jewish people in the Holy Land.

So declared United States Senator Sidney P. Spencer of Missouri to an audience of 400 prominent Jews at a banquet at the Plymouth Club.

"Participation is a privilege, neglect is a badge of shame. It is the land of Palestine that is at stake," he exclaimed.

The dinner marked the formal opening in Boston of the campaign to raise $100,000 for the Karen Hays fund, or Palestine Foundation Fund.

It was stated by Peter M. Levitt, chairman of the Boston drive, that 200 workers representative of every trade, business and profession of the city, will, beginning today, go among the business and residential sections of the city to solicit funds. The campaign will continue for 10 days.

It takes Money To Bake at Home

For there is the cost of the coal (or gas), and the ingredients that are called for by the recipe. There is the labor, and worry, the fear that the flaming door will make the cake "fall" in the oven, and the question whether the cake will be really good or just "so-so." That represents more money than it will take to buy Drake's Cake from the nearby grocery

IN THE DAYS OF CHARLEY BRICKLEY
Over at the stadium on Saturday whenever anybody would make a try for a field goal it was common to hear somebody make a remark about what Charley Brickley, in his prime, would have done with a kick of a state of affairs. There have been few drop-kickers who could do as well as Brickley.

DARTMOUTH HAS GOOD CHANCE TO WIN FROM HARVARD

BIG GREEN IS STRONG

By NICK FLAHERTY
Somebody has evidently manufactured a football team up among the emerald hills of Hanover, and the job gives Boston another "big" game for a week-end splurge. Harvard, a few days ago was considered entirely too much for Dartmouth, but things have changed. It looks like an open pastime, with the big Green as likely to win as the bigger Crimson.

John Hawley's New Hampshire warriors showed a startled football world something when they routed the Vermont team last week. Many of the experts expected the Burlington youth to win, as said youths have quite a club, as the ball players put it.

But Dartmouth sustained an open game that would have done credit to Notre Dame and waited in to see victory, and now the Harvard coaches are in for another week of worry and work.

Harvard is coming along in chronic Harvard fashion. The boys had to be rallied a bit for Holy Cross, but they were ready. They will be driven there next few days, and will undoubtedly treat another crowded stadium with further signs of advance.

Bob Flaherty's great trouble is with his offense. No team in the country can hurt back a hostile charge any better than Harvard. When backs like Ripoli and Cronan can't break through at least once in the entire stretch of a game there's some trouble in front.

When Holy Cross ails to gain at times in midfield, drew closer to the danger line, the charges were answered promptly and efficiently in the line of scrimmage.

CRIMSON CENTERS HAVE EXHIBITION OF DEFENSE
The Crimson centers, permitted to roam, gave great exhibitions of defensive football. They came around back of plays and in front of them and reminded one of Henry when he was making that sort of thing famous for Frank C. Johnson at the College team.

On the attack, however, things are not so good. Harvard by one touch of characteristic strategy, snatched over a touchdown on Holy Cross, but they never would have been in scoring distance if not for enemy mistakes. There must be shown yet at the stadium the ideal play that could carry the ball down the field.

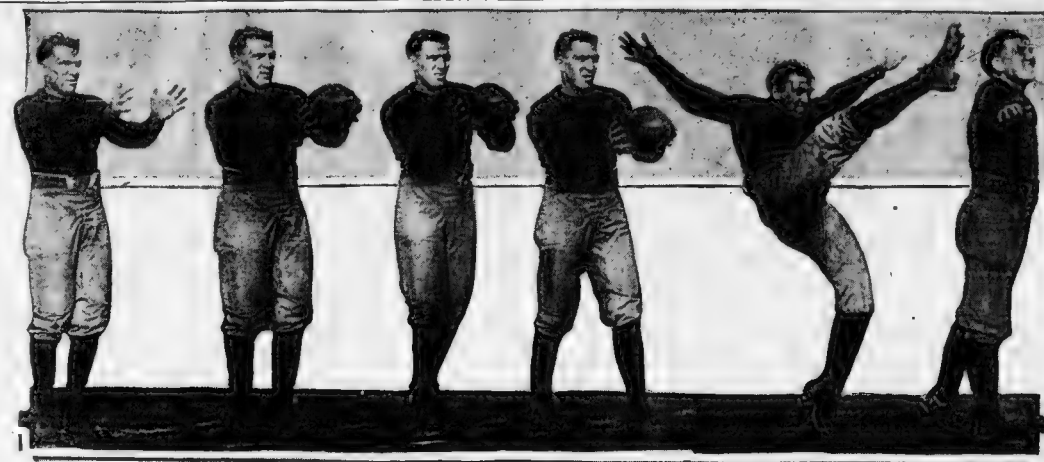

No star has hopped up to replace Owen in the line of backfield, and Owen is a fact to assume that he will. Harvard has a only good back, and we imagine, all eager for the large game with a lot more complicated strategy than the football has been the Cambridge team here last few years ago.

SHUTTAN WAS MISSED GREATLY AGAINST PURDUE
Johnson was missed greatly in the Holy Cross affair. He is the fastest of the ball carriers and the shrewdest. Much of the attack will be built around him, provided his inclination to injury doesn't keep him on the shelf too much.

He is also the best of the Crimson kickers, although Hammond left little to be desired in that line Saturday. His boots were well placed and high enough to give the forwards plenty of time to get down.

It will also be a fact to assume that why so many of McLaughlin's fumbles were not picked off. The young man was always surrounded by tacklers, as he bravely tried to.

NOW WE HEAR OF THE HAUGHTON SYSTEM AT COLUMBIA

THE VARIOUS MOVEMENTS USED BY CAPTAIN WALTER KOPPISCH IN A PUNT

CAPTAIN TYLER OUT OF GAME SATURDAY

The rejuvenated Tufts College eleven will tackle the Middlebury eleven on Saturday at Tufts Oval. Four members of the variety who have been on the hospital list will return to their old positions against the Vermont team.

The Jumbos have won four games and have not been beaten in the season.

Reisman, the quarterback who has been out with a bad ankle for four weeks will return to the signal calling berth.

Jack Wilson, backfield center, will enter the contest Saturday without the services of Capt. "Woody" Tyler, who was out of the first half with a bad knee.

Doctors say that there is a 50-50 chance for the star tackle to return within a week.

If "Woody" does not start it will be a body blow to the battered "A" boys.

GEORGE SISLER WILL BE BROWNS' MANAGER
St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 23—George Sisler has signed to manage the Browns. The premier first baseman who was out all season with a clot of vision, because of sinus trouble, is expected to be able to play in his initial week, for the local American League next year.

The announcement was made by Van French, who pulled one of the best exhibitions of broken field running ever witnessed at Tufts Oval in the North Shore League.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAYER DYING FROM INJURIES
Utica, N. Y., Oct. 23—Walter Snyder, twenty years, football player of the Utica High School football team, is at the Outside Hospital with a fractured vertebrae in the neck, suffered in a game Saturday.

His condition is serious. Officials of the high school announced tonight that all remaining games of the 1924 schedule would be cancelled.

Note and Comment on School Sport

Manchester High is the undisputed champion of New Hampshire after the 7 to 0 victory over Nashua High.

Revere High school plays Marblehead High at Curtis Park today if ground conditions permit. Coach Keefe and Jones decided to postpone this contest Saturday sooner than risk driving.

It's unfortunate, yet true, that such conditions are allowed at the only playground in Revere.

Lowell Tackle team broke into the winning column at the expense of Worcester Tech.

It was said time and again that Malden High is weak against a team that uses the forward pass, but it took Somerville High to prove it.

Somerville is the only team that has been able to win over Malden via the aerial game.

"Bump" Hadley, former Lynn High athlete, is in a "king" at Dorchester Academy. He has proved the greatest kicker to wear Marcellus colors in years.

If ever Beverly High had a football team the eleven that wears the school colors this year is "it." It is one of the finest drilled eleven in the North Shore League.

Trade School is given the chance on Wednesday to add another game to its string of victories when they play South Boston High at Tech Field, Brookline.

Charlie O'Neill, quarterback on Danvers High has proved himself the iron man of the squad. He has played in every game. His performance against Salem stood out the best seen this year at the Witch City.

MOORE JUMPS FROM CELLAR TO THE TOP

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 23.—Fall dom knows no more remarkable form reversal than that of Adolph Lique, the Cuban athlete who allies himself in behalf of the Cincinnati Reds.

Here is Lique's comparative record:

Year	Won	Lost	Per cent
1922	13	23	361
1923	22	8	731

A year ago he was the dub pitcher of baseball, as far as percentages were concerned. This season his mark of 731 topped every other pitcher in baseball.

"The strange part of it all," comments Pat Moran, manager of the Reds, "is that Lique really pitched ball in 1922 than he did this year. But in 1922 he was the unluckiest pitcher in the game."

"Every time the boys went into a batting slump it was with Lique on the mound; every time they tangled up themselves in a mass of errors it was when Lique was working."

"But this year Lique got the good breaks instead of the tough ones and demonstrated that he's the greatest pitcher in the game today."

BRIGHTON SHAMROCKS WHITEWASH THE PALS
The Shamrocks of Brighton whitewashed the Pals of Waltham, 13 to 0. The touchdowns were made in the second and final periods by M. Drie and T. McLaughlin, respectively.

Tackle plays in the second period brought the plexus to the 13 yard line, where a forward pass was made by Drie, who scored the touch down.

McLaughlin made the other touch down, after the ball had been brought to the 2 yard line on a kick play. He intercepted a forward pass which later gave them the goal, after the players were made.

Lally on the Pals team suffered a 20 yard run.

Race Between Zev and My Own at Belmont Park

New York, Oct. 21.—Harry F. Sinclair can arrange it, there will be a race within the next ten days between his great colt, Zev, and Admiral Cary T. Grayson's My Own, rivals for the three-year-old event at the Belmont Park.

It was announced on Sinclair's behalf that the Revolution of the great international special at Belmont Park, Saturday, before a crowd of 60,000 and that Admiral Grayson could have a match if he wanted it.

Sinclair, if he said, would like to have Zev and My Own meet at Belmont Park. If the Westchester Racing Association and Admiral Grayson agree, such a race might be arranged at Belmont for any day between Oct. 31 and Nov. 15.

The Empire City Racing Association's full meeting finishes at Yonkers, Oct. 24. Racing is permitted in New York State between April 15 and Nov. 15.

KANSAS CITY WINS SIXTH SERIES GAME

Baltimore, Md., 22.—(U.S. Press)—Although out hit, Kansas City defeated Baltimore in the sixth game of the Junior World Series, 12 to 5.

The American Association champions gathered an even dozen hits off four Orioles pitchers, but all were made at opportune times. Baltimore, on the other hand, was held safe by Ray Caldwell, former Yankee.

Four of Baltimore's runs were homered by Miller, Pitt, Leary and Boley, into the short right field bleachers.

The victory gave Kansas City a strangle hold on the junior title. The series now stands 4 to 3 in their favor. A victory today will enable them to clinch the series.

Judge Landis, baseball commissioner, said that the series would be played at the New York Giants' ballpark.

CHARLEY O'HEARN IS OUT OF ELI FOOTBALL

New Haven, Oct. 22.—Charley O'Hearn has played his last game of college football. He is at the New Haven Hospital with a broken leg sustained in the J. McGinnis basketball game in yesterday's game.

Leonard Sanford, the Yale team surgeon, set the broken bone and said tonight that, although it is possible that O'Hearn may be able to join the hockey team in January, and positively certain that he will join the basketball team in January, he is not capable of the playing campaign, he will not leave the hospital before the final football matches.

DORCHESTER TO PLAY ENGLISH TOMORROW

By FRED C. LANE
A heavy, well drilled Dorchester High team meets a green, light English High team tomorrow at Braves Field.

The contest will have much to do to settle the championship of Boston, for it is general a 1-1 that Dorchester High is headed in that direction.

In other years English High has been a heavy favorite, but the tables have turned and Dorchester is now thought likely winners. Dorchester has played two games and won both by large scores.

English High has not won a game. In justice to the Gloucester street school it must be said that in Groton and Brockton the Blue and the White played two more games in the State.

Dorchester has a veteran team. The line is the bravest in years, while all the backfield players have been under fire.

On the English High eleven Captain Fred Brinkley has been shifted from half to quarterback. Foreman, who showed well in the scrimmages, is the line backer for the vacant position in the backfield.

DILLON AND SEARS CLASH; SHEVLIN BATTLES WARD AGAIN

BATTLE WIKES POLO: DILLON AND SEARS AT ST. JOE'S

By JACK CONWAY
 More action for boxing fans this week. Mathewson and Jack Murphy of the Casino A. C. of Lynn will start the fireworks tonight. He has Eddie Polo, lightweight champion of Maine, billed to meet Young Baxter, Rhode Island champion, in the feature bout of ten rounds.

Follows the Armory A. A. show on tomorrow night. Al Sears, East Boston welterweight, will clash with Jack Dillon, Boston College student, in the second round.

The Suffolk A. A., which has been putting on some major league attractions, will step into the picture on Friday night with Eddie Shevlin, New England welterweight champion, pitted against George Ward of Elizabeth, N. J. in a two-round scramble.

So that the followers of the amateur game may have something to cheer about, Billy Cuddy has arranged a show to be staged under the direction of the St. Joseph's T. A. Society at Commercial Hall, Bowdoin Square, on Friday night.

It is an attractive offering and should make a decided hit with the fans.

VIEWS OF ZEV'S GREAT VICTORY OVER PAPYRUS

EAGLE TO FACE TOUGH FOE IN MARQUETTE

Coach Cavanaugh will face his hardest week of practice this season when he calls out to stand this afternoon's game at Marquette University. In fact there is an atmosphere of gloom. The injury list, which has decimated the Cavanaugh team, has returned with renewed vigor.

Ward and McCreary will not be in shape to face Marquette. Both men were carried from the field in Saturday's game. Ward, who is the most consistent distance runner in the East, was hurt early in the first period. He was carried off the field. If he is able to appear in the game, and the odds are against it, both boys join out of a game with ten rounds.

WARRIOR ALSO SUFFERED A LAMENESS.
 The game of his line are only scratched, however, and he will be back in the game before Ward is. Unless Knealy, the only hope of the B. C. line, is back, there will be no one who can lead the speedy Marquette halfback.

It was a week ago that the Marquette team was in a state of confusion. It was then that the team was defeated by the Cavanaugh team. The team was then in a state of confusion. POLO AND BAXTER SHOULD PRODUCE THRILLS

Eddie Polo, lightweight champion of Maine, and Young Baxter, who holds the lightweight title in Rhode Island, should furnish action at the Casino A. C. of Lynn tonight. Polo and Baxter top one of the most attractive bills ever presented at the Lynn club.

These two boys met at the Casino two weeks ago and put up one of the best bouts ever staged in the Rhode Island. They stood toe to toe and fought for the entire eight rounds.

Billy DeFoe and Tommy Corbett, both in an excellent condition, and if the bout is like their last meeting at Danvers, Ct., where they boxed the main event, the crowd will be well pleased.

Young Rose of Lynn, who looks like a comer in the bantam ranks, will meet Tommy Hone of Stoneham in a six rounder.

There are two other six rounders. Tommy Clayton of Boston and Tommy Joff of Gloucester will tackle Larry McLean of Beverly.

BOSTON COLLEGE STUDENTS WILL BACK JILLION

It will be "College Night" at the Grand Opera House tomorrow evening with Jack Dillon, Boston College athlete, billed to battle with Al Sears of East Boston in the feature bout of ten rounds. Dillon has been an enthusiastic over an athlete as they are over Dillon.

This is only natural as Jack is a brilliant boxer, heavy puncher, and most important, a clean living, model young man.

The Western youth will test his amazing boxer skill and science against the aggressive and well-trained power of Sears. It will be the second meeting between the two. When they battled a couple of months ago, Sears won the decision after a furious engagement. It is in the nature of the sport and incidentally won a victory for higher education.

SEARS KILLS HIS WILL. THINK FASTER THAN RIVAL.

Rears, although not a college student, says he will think faster than Dillon.

"It will take more than a knowledge of how to translate Latin and French to defeat me on Tuesday night," says the East Boston youth.

When Sears enters the ring, he will be cheered on by fans from the large delegation of fans from the Noddie Island district.

There will also be three sparkling fights. Bob Conlan of Charlestown will clash with Wop Manion of Dorchester. Spike Hennessy of Weymouth will have Eddie Barthelemy of Boston as an opponent, while Joe Panzarone of Quincy will try to eliminate Sallor Cavanaugh of Cambridge.

WARD WOULD BE ABLE TO FULLY EXERCISE

George Ward would be able to get any sneak punch when he clashes with Eddie Shevlin at the St. Joe's show on Friday night. Ward, who has been a corner fighter and boxer, is a decisive fighter. He will win by a decisive margin. Ward got the jump on Eddie in their last meeting by knocking him out in the first round. He has been a corner fighter and boxer, is a decisive fighter. ZEV VICTORY A BIG HIT WITH CASEYS

"Dad Casey, I'm going to ride Zev tomorrow," said a young man of the Belmont track center. Several days ago to the Casey family who was the proud owner of the crowd at the Belmont track center. The crowd at the Belmont track center was so large that the Casey family was forced to turn away many of the fans. The Casey family was so proud of their victory that they were forced to turn away many of the fans.

THE FINISH—ZEV WINS BY FIVE LENGTHS

Zev Greatest of All Money Winners
 By TASKER COLE.
 New York, Oct. 21.—Even though my own success in some race yet to be arranged, writing from the head of Zev the three-year-old crown of the current season, he cannot prevent the Hancock stable's star from finishing the year as the greatest of American money-earning thoroughbreds of all time.

When he beat Papyrus at Belmont Park Saturday in an apothecary trial race of one mile and a half and added $4,000 to his winnings—$20,000 in money and $10,000 in gold pins—Zev moved $100,000 ahead of Man o' War and about $12,000 ahead of Exterminator.

Zev has won $239,913 in two seasons, $24,605 as a two-year-old and $215,248 as a three-year-old; his great winnings have come this season.

Earl Hande.
 His share of the $10,000 Kentucky Derby purse was $53,000. The winner netted $13,300, the Belmont, $12,600, and the Realization, $24,410.

BATEN ONLY ONCE THIS SEASON.
 He has been beaten only once this season. He was unplaced in the renewal of the $50,000 Preaker steeplechase at Pimlico in May. At Vicksburg, a colt he has since killed several times, won.

His poor showing in the Preaker was attributed to a lack which numbed one of Zev's hind legs.

Samuel C. Hilditch was no disappointment. He did not want to send him to Churchill Downs a week later for the Kentucky Derby. He was a good horse, but he was not a champion. He was a good horse, but he was not a champion. He was a good horse, but he was not a champion.

RIVAL JOCKEYS SHAKE HANDS

Stanley Stodak, twenty son of Poland, will meet some serious competition when he meets Zev at the Grand Opera House on Saturday night. Stodak has been a champion of the Netherlands, a finish in a half hour at the Grand Opera House on Saturday night.

WILSON SAYS BRITTON Has Developed Nee's Left

Johnny Wilson, former middleweight champion of the world, who trained for his bout with George Robinson at Freddy Weiler's health farm at Summit, N. J., had this to say about Tommy Nee, South Boston welterweight, who had been working at the same resort under the direction of Jack Britton, former world's welterweight champion.

"Wilson has developed a remarkable left hand," said the young man. "I am told that the young man always had a good right, but that he didn't employ his left enough. Britton has had Tommy boxing for as many as six rounds with instructions to only use his left hand. In this way it has made Nee into a great left-hand jabber and hooker. As Tommy can throw hard with his right, he will make a hard man to defeat."

"Fred Wilberford displayed rare judgment when he secured a race master like Britton to coach Nee."

MARTY O'HARE IS PROMISING BANTAM

Pittsburgh, which has produced such great fighters as Frank Brannan, Buck Cross, Pugsy Brennan, Harry Greb, Johnny Dundee, and the Zev brothers, has uncovered another lad who is fast to develop into one of the best two-handed bantams in the world.

Marty O'Hare is the lad in question. He has been fighting from a sensational pace until he is considered in many quarters one of the most likely contenders for the world's bantam title.

O'Hare, who is a cousin of Patsy Graham, has been fighting professionally less than two years, yet in that time has compiled a most impressive record and an enviable reputation among the bantam, welter, and middleweight classes.

Allegedly, O'Hare has engaged in twenty-six bouts, scoring fourteen knockouts, winning ten decisions, receiving one draw and losing two verdicts. He has never been knocked out, and his reputation among the bantam, welter, and middleweight classes is such that he is considered one of the most likely contenders for the world's bantam title.

Hambury Place Is Mighty Proud of Zev

The news of Zev's victory over Papyrus was received with great pleasure at Hambury Place, where he was born. Zev is named for a famous Kentuckian. The name is an abbreviation of Zev's name.

Zev is the son of the Finn and Miss Kearney, and his mother is reported to have sent him a telegram congratulating him on his victory.

"It has made me most happy and proud, my son, that you have demonstrated to the public that the confidence that your owner and trainer had in you was not misplaced. All of Hambury Place are most elated over your victory and send heartfelt congratulations."

RELEASE AS REWARD FOR LEADING TEAM

Portland, Ore., Oct. 22.—Manager Jimmy Middleton says he asks his own reward for his good work in winning the Portland leaves the year in the Coast League race. He says his own reward is the release of a champion, but probably the horsemen in the United States believe that only one can pick him. He won't object to his job.

TRAVEL BRIEFS—NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL

By ROBBIE SHAFTEE
AMERICAN EXPRESS COMPANY
The second annual world cruise under the direction of this travel organization will sail from New York on November 12, calling at San Francisco December 4 to pick up Pacific coast passengers.

Some 15,000 passengers, most of them of the "Tour Horizon" and other works of international reputation, has announced that he is at last ready to go. The cruise will be the grand cruise of the world and realize one of his dreams. He will join the party on the S. S. "France" on November 12, from New York.

The list of passengers making this annual cruise include the names of many prominent people, not only in America, but from several countries in the world.

Reverend the American Express Company's office in Japan indicates that by the time the ship reaches Japan in the latter part of December, the work of reorganizing the line will have been advanced stage, permitting the carrying out of the original plans for the cruise.

CHICAGO AND NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.
The seventy-fifth anniversary of the Chicago & North Western railway system will be celebrated in Chicago on Wednesday, October 24, when a special feature of the occasion the officials of the railway will have as their guests the day on active service for many years.

More than 100,000 people are expected to attend the celebration at all branches of the railway system, and have been playing an important part in building this, the first railway west of Chicago, will be brought to the city as guests of the North Western.

Upon arrival they will meet at the Madison street passenger terminal by a reception committee composed of officials of the road who will provide them with a day of entertainment.

The Chicago & North Western Railway, the pioneer of the West, the old Great Lakes & Chicago Union, was a part of the present system, having been the first railway to lay tracks west of Chicago, and its construction was an epoch-making event in the history and development of the West and North Western.

From the modest beginning of ten miles extending from Chicago to Hammond, Ill., the system now embraces a total of over 10,000 miles of track reaching into every corner of the continent.

The first locomotive, "The Pioneer," which was built by the World's Columbian Exposition will remember as living history, exhibit is still in possession of the company and in excellent state of repair.

MERCHANTS & MINERS TRANSPORTATION COMPANY.
The first operation of this line of passenger steamers on the Atlantic coast, affording a most pleasant and delightful mode of transportation at all seasons of the year.

Every modern appliance for safety and comfort has been installed on these steamers, which have plenty of deck space, including commodious promenades. A note of interest, one of these steamers is one of the latest and most modern of the line.

NEW ENGLAND FLORIDA THROUGH TRAIN.
Florida passengers from New England will be pleased to know that a solid through train to Florida is assured for the coming season.

This new train will be known as the "Everglades Limited," via Shore Line, Hill Gate Bridge, New York, Pennsylvania Railroad, Washington, R. P. & P. Richmond, then Atlantic Coast Line, leaving Boston about 7:10 p. m. and leaving Norfolk, Mass., at about 1:30 p. m.

It is expected that this train will carry Pullman cars to New York, Petersburg and Norfolk, Va., as at Jacksonville, Fla. From Boston, there will be Pullman equipment from Springfield which will take care of passengers en route to New York and New England, and points in Virginia and New Hampshire, en route Springfield via the Connecticut River Line.

The growth of the Florida business from New England is the principal reason for the plan leading to the introduction of this through train service which is a new departure for the region.

Act I: The Unsolved Murder Mystery.

Act II: Storming the Social Heights.

Act III: Triumph at the Court of St. James.

By WINIFRED VAN DUZER

Beautiful Virginia
Rice, Who Married Don
Stuart Momand,
a Prominent Figure in New York Society

IT still lacked an hour or two of midnight on an August evening a dozen years ago.

A man strolled comfortably along the show street of the fashionable Euclid Heights section of Cleveland, Ohio, enjoying, apparently, the sweep of lawns on either hand, with their exotic gardening and their picturesque effect of offering themselves as settings for great jewels of mansions.

What happened directly afterward, on a street where automobiles passed constantly and beneath the very glare of an arc-light, never was known exactly. Someone lurked in the shadows, awaiting his coming. But whether it was two or more enemies from the foreign quarter down the hill, where he had attempted to establish order, or whether it was a business associate driven by anger, or whether it chanced to be a highwayman, none ever knew—or, knowing, spoke.

There was a struggle, a shot, the flash of a knife. And very shortly a physician, driving by, found the man's body crumpled in the roadway under the light. A bullet had pierced his brain, a blow had fractured his skull, his hand was cut and his coat sleeves slashed. But the money he carried, his watch and other valuables were untouched.

The search that followed set by the ears every police and detective force in America. Arrest after arrest was made—only to end in nothing. The law partners of the dead man offered a reward of five thousand dollars for the apprehension of the murderer. The amount was doubled by a business associate and family friend of New York City.

Because of the wealth and exalted position of the victim, the tragedy was the most startling affair of its kind ever to take complete possession of Cleveland, but it was decided, nevertheless, even while the widow and her four daughters, the youngest of them but seven, still remained in the darkened home that never would the mystery be solved.

So in time it came to be known as the Strange Slaying of William Lowe Rice.

— click from any altitude whenever to AS—

The climb from any altitude whatever to the summit of the Social World is a long and arduous one. Ambition is the secret of successful mountaineering. The sort of ambition that permits neither tranquility nor repose, that never languishes. This ambition has made empire-builders and empires. It has changed the destinies of nations. It has populated the frontiers of the world. But

To start upon this difficult trail under the best of conditions requires courage. But to step from the deep shadows of tragedy and attempt to negotiate it is something that none but the bravest personalities would dare.

This is what Mrs. William Lowe Rice was able to do, because she was working, not so much for herself as for the prestige of her four charming daughters. She put Cleveland, the scene of her smaller social success, behind her, and transferred her campaign to New York, Washington

Now, with two of her daughters married to sons of spectacular "first families," a second engaged to a third such figure, and herself and the youngest girl bowing before the exalted circle of Buckingham Palace, the indomitable widow of the Cleveland lawyer has little to look forward to in the way of achievement, save only the task of helping along a successful marital alliance for her youngest.

Of course, Mrs. Rice did not begin her climb from the obscurity of the social valley. Ever before the tragic death of her husband she figured in the most exclusive circles of Cleveland.

society. She spent her summers at Southampton, Massachusetts, where she occupied "Plaza Ar Lyn," the Schieffelin villa.

It is chronicled that the social leaders of the East were a bit aloof with the Cleveland lady during her initial seasons. Indeed, it appears that she made small headway in those first years, though possibly her efforts were leisurely and conducted without the purpose that spurred them later.

It is like that, as she sat in the shuttered house on Euclid Heights, after the message telling of the murder of her husband had hurried her back to Cleveland from the Southampton place, Mrs. Rice saw her own future as a period of opportunity-making for her children. With the eldest but eighteen, their future was ahead.

All who know her well agree that her ambition always has been for her daughters. She left Cleveland at once, and for a time maintained an apartment in the fashionable Hotel Plaza in able Hotel Plaza, in New York City. From there she moved to a still more fashionable apartment on Park avenue, where most of her campaigning was done.

It was back in August of 1914 that Mrs. Rice struck a fairly bright light on the darksome path, when she gave a ball for her most charming — some say — daughter Virginia at her Southlong afterward that Helen, the next day, made her bow at another large reception in the ballroom of the Ritz.

Thus time wore along until 1921—nine years after the tragedy in Cleveland. And now a pair of weddings has touched off more lights on the steep climb, each brighter than those which shone before, and each adding something to make the way easier. Virginia was married in July, 1921.

Medbury Says

By John P. Medbury

COLUMBUS discovered America. If he had only come back here today he would be surprised. It wouldn't be surprising that he couldn't get in such a terrible shape in only 43 years!

PEOPLE celebrate his discovery, but there was nothing surprising about it in his landing here. He didn't have to spend three or four months on this island.

WHEN he left Spain he wasn't worrying about the Spanish quota being filled.

IF, as some historians think, he landed on the coast of Florida, it proved to him no surprise. He knew where to spend the winter.

BUT whether he did or not, if he went to Florida now, Queen Isabella would have to look some more at her jewels.

HE had no difficulty in landing, he wasn't bothered with bells being ringing.

AND he didn't have to be helped by a taxi driver for not giving him a tip.

THE first thing he did was to kneel down and kiss the soil. That's where the women got the idea for mud packs.

COLUMBUS sank his face deep into the dirt, but there isn't any record of him ever winning any beauty contests.

HE got a lot of credit for discovering this country but it's so big he really couldn't help running into it.

HUNDREDS of historians have proved that Columbus discovered America but not one of them has ever told us why. Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd., Inc.

ONCE-OVERS

Copyright, 1932, by International Picture Service, Inc. IN PROSPERITY DO NOT FORSAKE OLD FRIENDS

What has prosperity done for you? Has it made you big and generous and helpful to others or has it made you stingy, self-interested, and self-satisfied?

Since gaining it in this world's game have you drawn away from your old friends, the ones whom you knew and associated with when you were in moderate circumstances?

When you do meet these friends you have a penetrating air toward them.

You make it evident that while you may tolerate them for old time's sake, yet you do not want them to get the idea that you are the good old friends of bygone days.

Of course, your success has brought you in contact with many new and your old associates.

But why should these old friends be made to feel that you no longer look upon them as friends?

Why should you apparently try to emphasize that you have forgotten their name and you wish them to understand the fact.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Boston American will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment in My Life." Address: Embarrassing Moments, Boston American.

While dining out with a gentleman friend from the country at a "classy" hotel, the waiter forced to put a glass of water at my friend's place. Imagine my embarrassment when my friend picked up the glass and drank the contents of it, believing it was intended for his purpose.

THE BEST JOKE I EVER HEARD

The Boston American will pay $1 for "Best Joke" published in "Best Joke," Boston American.

It was noticed at one of the boys' clubs on the New York East Side, that a little negro who attended regularly, always brought a certain book each evening and laughed uproariously, especially at the same picture.

One of the supervisors approached and saw the picture represented a bull chasing a small colored boy across a field. He asked the little fellow what amused him so. "Oh," answered the boy, "the ain't noched him yet."

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

The Boston American will pay $1 for publication of any saying. Address: "Smart Sayings," Boston American.

A little girl in our neighborhood went to another child's house to ask the other to come out to meet. "Henry, can't come out today, because he has the mumps," explained the other child's mother.

"Well," replied the little girl, "can't he bring them out?" MISS ELEANOR J. O'BRIEN, 4 Walnut Street, Newburyport, Mass.
